serving as treasurer since 1910.

WORKS ON STATE DEM UNIT BRIEF

JACKSON, MISS. - The state attorney general's office continued work this week on a brief supporting the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, "made up mostly of Negroes and backed by civil rights organizations."

Att. Gen. Ruble Griffin met with State Senator E. K. Collins, newly named national committeewoman and Douglas Wynn, a Greenville lawyer, who will present the state brief to the Credentials Committee Saturday in Atlantic City.

Griffin says he will serve as counsel for the state delegation at the request of Gov. Paul John. Griffin specializes in law deal-with political parties, municipalities and county elections.

The Freedom group is under a chancery court injunction against further political activity. Atty.

Gen. Joe Patterson contends the Freedom Organization did not comply with state laws in formation of a political party. He also said that the majority of the organizers were non-residents and members of the Council of Federed Organizations, which represents some integration groups.

Chancellor Stokes V. Robertson of Jackson issued the injunction against the Freedom Party.

The Freedom Party has maintained it will support the national platform and President Johnson, sudden visitors.

We never miss to Pearl River and its territories an ideal place for catching fresh water fish. The reason is that these waters are natural breeding places for green trout and perch and do not have to be re-stocked. A local fisherman throws back fish of moderate size, giving them a chance to grow. They will be much larger next year. Imagine we threw back about 50 fish while fishing yesterday and still came home with a nice catch.

After September the best baits use for fresh water fish are surface plugs and most any kind of underwater baits. Trolling for green trout is excellent during the colder months and our favorite baits are the "Hawaiian Wiggler" McH baits and bait made of a No. 2 spinner-treble hook and varied colored rubber skirts. Although on warm days the trout will hit surface baits on the fly rod. Perch go for a small black gnat and spinner.

Thought that crayfish were strictly a Southern seafood, but I see from an article that the Swedish crayfish crop has gone to pot and that crayfish fans have to pay 60¢ for one crayfish (called miniature lobsters) at a restaurant and 30¢ if they buy them in a store. Crayfish are being imported from abroad, Russia, Finland, Yugoslavia and Norway. We know it's a delicacy when served cold, with toast, cheese, schnaps and lots of beer are mighty good. During the season in Louisiana, they are plentiful and are caught in crayfish nets by the hundreds.

Catching crayfish is a pleasure and lots of fun.

Along the Gulf Coast there is fishing, soft and hard shell crabbing and floundering at this time of the year. Why pay for seafood when it can be gotten with a little effort.

At Gulfport flounders are being caught near the Harbor by dragging along the bottom. The same thing can be done along the railroad bridge right here at Bay St. Louis. The method used is using a slaughter pole or casting rod with a light sinker, hook and a piece of pork rind. Drag slowly on the bottom.

O. P. Adams is an ardent fly fisherman and his prize fishing places are around Pearl River. He usually gets his share.

According to reports, shrimp have been caught for the past week at the Bay Yacht Club Harbor with cast nets and along the beach down Waveland way. The shrimp are moving into shore and becoming more numerous.

Hard crabs are being caught most everywhere. In Jordan River one net set down along the boat while fishing will get a mess for the family table. Fish heads and chicken necks are mighty good bait.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones had their two sons, Frank and Sammy from Mobile visiting them. The boys enjoyed fishing with their dad.

Hank Evans had a young friend of his here for a few days. They enjoyed fishing and crabbing.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Duff and children arrived in New Orleans Friday from Stillwater, Oklahoma where Capt. Duff is attending school. A family reunion and rounds of parties are planned for the week.

Howard will probably get in a little fishing while down South. Have noticed a number of gars are being caught on catfish lines. That's one way of getting rid of them. A good gar is a dead one.

A round of activities are planned for the next couple of months at the Pass Christian Isles Gold Club, among which is the annual club championship tourney. Better qualify now if you expect to participate. Pro Cal Smith has the course in tip top condition and big doings are being looked forward to.

We all know about a cricket notch bait for bass and perch. What we didn't know was that a sliced Irish potato in his cage will keep him alive and healthy indefinitely.

All fishermen know that earth

COLMER WOULD CURB SUPREME COURT ON REAPPORTIONMENT

WASHINGTON — Congressman Wm. M. Colmer, (D-Miss.) made the motion in the Rules Committee that took a bill to limit the jurisdiction of Federal Courts in reapportionment cases out of the House Judiciary Committee.

Resorting to a rarely used power of the Rules Committee, that Mississippian, backed by a 10 to 4 vote of the Committee, made the bill's consideration in order on the House Floor. This had the effect of discharging the Judiciary Committee from considering it further, just as a petition of 219 Members would have done. The bill that was reported was introduced by Congressman William M. Tuck (D-Va.), a former Governor. Colmer and some 80 other Congressmen had introduced similar measures, but Governor Tuck's bill was chosen because he is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

"While everyone recognizes the need for re-apportionment of the test stands. Other remarkable features of Mississippi's first encounter with the Space Age will be giant industrial, engineering and laboratory complexes on the site; man-made canals stretching seven and one-half miles, a navigation lock and bascule bridge; docks and warehouse facilities, and a network of connecting roads and railroads.

The Pearl River is being dredged to new depth and dotted with dock and port facilities. This area of South Mississippi, once a quiet place, has undergone a transfiguration. Mississippi will play a key role in the shot to the moon and the mastery of space which will be the result of that achievement.

Senator Stennis said, "Mississippi will play a key role in our space program and in the shot to the moon. But the moon shot is not the ultimate goal. Our success in this program will show that we have overcome the scientific barriers necessary to achieve mastery in space, with all its importance to our nation."

"I am pleased that Mississippi will greatly benefit from the employment and other economic activity generated by such a giant facility in our State."

NASA plans call for MTO to become operational late in 1965, but already the vast amount of construction in the area is literally churning up the countryside.

Its ultimate purpose is to test the unbelievably large and powerful Saturn V Apollo moon rocket engines that will by 1970 attempt a landing of American Astronauts on the moon.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers, Mobile (Ala.) District, serves as MTO's construction agent and awards all construction and procurement contracts from its temporary offices in Bay St. Louis, Miss. The Engineer Corps is also in charge of land acquisition for the site.

To date, the Engineers have virtually completed acquisition of all land tracts in the 13,100-acre fee area. Land acquisition in the buffer zone, a much larger area comprising 128,526 acres, is moving along at a rapid pace.

Stennis has urged the Corps to step-up its land acquisition operations, with immediate settlement and payment of full market value to landowners for their property.

To date, the Engineers have acquired easements on 2,822 tracts of lands out of 3,180 which make up the entire buffer zone.

Stennis noted that "employment at MTO has for the first time reached the 2,000 mark. The largest number of these, about 1,650, are construction workers, and this number is expected to reach 3,000 by the end of the summer. Another 350 persons employed at the site are personnel of NASA, the Corps of Engineers and contractors."

Stennis went to the site in October 1961, accompanied by officials of NASA, the Corps of Engineers and other government agencies, to discuss the project with residents and landowners of the area. A mass meeting on the school grounds of Eustis opened up a Pandora's box of thousands of questions, from the sale of land and homes to removal of nearly 400 graves in family cemeteries. "I am highly pleased that a great many of those early stage problems have been settled and resolved," Stennis said, "and I am keeping a close watch on NASA and the Corps of Engineers to settle other problems that are surely to arise regarding property appraisals, fair price settlement, and related matters with which landowners are concerned."

Since the first tree was felled in the swamp-clearing work that began in May 1963, more than 1,000 acres of land has been cleared and more than three million cubic yards of earth have been excavated. As construction steps up its pace, the figures will change rapidly.

Foundations for the test stands for the first and second stages of the rocket engines have been completed. The predominant features of MTO will be three of these rocket test stands. Other remarkable features of Mississippi's first encounter with the Space Age will be giant industrial, engineering and laboratory complexes on the site; man-made canals stretching seven and one-half miles, a navigation lock and bascule bridge; docks and warehouse facilities, and a network of connecting roads and railroads.

The Dean of the Mississippi delegation added: "What is involved here is no less than the future of this country. These court decisions will enthronize the big city ward heelers in almost every state capital in the nation and end sound Constitutional government for all time. They are a blow to the cause of good government."

I am strongly opposed to letting the Congo become our African Vietnam.

STENNIS OPPOSES INVOLVEMENT IN THE CONGO

By Senator John Stennis

WASHINGTON — The President announced a few days ago that four U. S. Air Force transports planes and 106 American fighting men, including 40 paratroopers, have been sent to the Congo, deep in the heart of troubled Africa.

I am strongly opposed to this involvement in the Congo. We have no treaty commitments which require the United States to take this action.

Let us be realistic about this situation. Regardless of the announced reason for the dispatch of our forces to the Congo, these Army and Air Force men will wear the uniforms of their services. They carry our flag. The United States flag accompanies our military personnel wherever they go, and our flag protects them.

According to the announcement, these planes are used to transport Congolese troops to the combat areas of that strife-torn African Country.

Now when our planes move men and supplies to a combat area we can be sure they will encounter hostile fire. If and when they are fired upon — as most certainly they will be — it will be the effect of discharging the Judiciary Committee from considering it further, just as a petition of 219 Members would have done. The bill that was reported was introduced by Congressman William M. Tuck (D-Va.), a former Governor. Colmer and some 80 other Congressmen had introduced similar measures, but Governor Tuck's bill was chosen because he is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

Last summer she screamed when we took her near the ocean. Now she loves to splash around under her parents' watchful eye. One day she'll be swimming out past the breakers and riding in on a wave.

How does one explain this emerging courage? It is a combination of growth, training and confidence. And no two alone are sufficient — it takes all three.

These three have also their spiritual counterparts. From the day religious education commences, a child begins to show evidence of spiritual growth. This is followed by an aptitude for learning the simple but profound truths of Christian belief and practice. Ultimately we see evidence of a deep and enduring confidence in God — the magnificent quality we call Faith. Then moral courage, true character, emerge in the lives of our sons and daughters.

A vast spiritual ocean touches every shore of life. And those who once venture into the surf are never again content just to loll on the beach.

FUNDS FOR PUBLIC WORKS PROJECTS IN MISS. APPROVED

WASHINGTON — Senator John Stennis said the Senate Appropriations Committee, of which he is ranking member, approved more than three million dollars for Mississippi public works projects for Fiscal Year 1965.

The appropriations bill, reported favorably by the Committee, now goes to the Senate floor for action which is expected to come this week.

Included in the bill are these Mississippi projects and amounts:

For actual construction: Native Levee Protection Work, $200,000; Jackson-East Jackson flood control, $800,000; Oketona Reservoir, seven miles northwest of Meridian, $500,000; Pascagoula Harbor deepening, $620,000, and Tombigbee River and its tributaries, $400,000, a new flood control project.

For comprehensive survey and investigation: Big Black River Basin, $65,000; Pascagoula River Basin, $125,000; Pearl River Basin, $125,000; Biloxi Harbor, an expanded program to deepen harbor to Ship Island, $24,000; Town Creek, Jackson, review an early survey on flood control, $20,000.

Various plans for the future were discussed during the business session conducted by Mrs. Clyde Craig, president.

It was reported that two pairs of adjustable crutches and two folding wheel chairs, purchased with proceeds from the magazine subscriptions, and bed rails and a walker donated by individuals are now available for use on a temporary basis, to Hancock County residents. For further information contact Mrs. Craig.

The date for the Poppy Coronation ball was set for 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Legion Home. The public is invited.

Mrs. Oschmann won the entrance prize.

Coffee and cake were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Craig and Dick Ferguson.

STATION

A new $50,000 high-voltage station was placed in on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 16, it was announced by A. H. Bay St. Louis manager of the Mississippi Power Company.

Gregory said that the new station is located approximately 15 miles north of Bay St. Louis and would provide better quality of electrical service for those extending from Picayune Beach.

It is stated that the new station represents a major step in construction for Mississippi Power Company. All current carrying parts of the new station are constructed of welded 1/2-inch diameter aluminum tubing which he indicated is stronger and more attractive.
